

François Grünewald

François Grünewald, President of Groupe URD. François is an agricultural engineer with a lot of experience working on emergency food security programmes. He supervises all of Groupe URD's research work. He was the Director of the Global Study on Consultation and Participation of Disaster-affected populations and the Scientific Director of the Quality Project. He is the joint editor of Editions Karthala. He is a member of the "Commission Nationale Consultative des Droits de l'Homme" and Associate Professor of the "DESS Gestion de l'Humanitaire de l'Université Paris 12 in Créteil". He is a former member of the "Haut Conseil de la Coopération Internationale".

Groupe URD is a non-profit research institute which works on evaluations, methodology and training with the aim of improving practices within humanitarian action in favour of crisis-affected populations. It functions like a scientific interest group and counts amongst its members, French international aid organisations, and european partners as well as universities.